DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-4, 6-15, 19-26, and 34 drawn to a pressable dental ceramic, classified in class 501, subclass 16.
  - II. Claims 5, 16-18, 27-28, 31-33, and 35, drawn to a dental restoration, classified in class 428, subclass 426.
  - III. Claims 29-30 and 36-37, drawn to a press to metal dental restoration, classified in class 428, subclass 472.
  - IV. Claims 38-48, drawn to a method of making a dental restoration, classified in class 433, subclass 223.
2. Inventions of Groups I, II, and III are directed to related products. The related inventions are distinct if the inventions as claimed do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants; and the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the invention of Group I is drawn to a pressable dental ceramic, the invention of Group II is drawn to a dental restoration, and the invention of Group III is drawn to a press to metal dental restoration wherein the products of the three groups can have a materially different design and function. The pressable dental ceramic can be used as just a coating for cosmetic purposes while the dental restoration can be used to rebuild teeth that are either wholly or partially missing and function to be used for purposes of mastication wherein the dental restoration has a ceramic core with a porcelain overlay. The press to metal dental restoration is different in design and function from Groups I and II in that the press to metal dental restoration is formed on a metal substrate which is different from that of the pressable dental ceramic and the dental restoration used as a core.

3. Inventions Group IV and Group I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the process can be used to make a materially different product. The process requires that the finished product is a ceramic overlay over a metal framework while the product does not require the use of a metal overlay.

4. Inventions Group IV and Group II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made using a materially different process, as the product does not require the process limitations in order to be made.

5. Inventions Group IV and Group III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made using a materially different process, as the product does not require the process limitations in order to be made.

6. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. An original written restriction requirement was set forth in an office action dated March 24, 2006. Upon further consideration, a supplementary restriction requirement has been made between the related products of original Group I as set forth above.

8. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
